SECTION II

OBSERVATIONS (LESSONS LEARNED)

ITEM: Urinal facilities are inadequate.

DISCUSSION: The current practice of placing shell casing or pipe into a gravel or can filled pit for a urinal is completely unsatisfactory. Such facilities collect insects and give off a continual offensive odor. The use of crushed cans for filler in such a sump is likewise unsatisfactory as urine collects within the cans and the odor is distinguishable a considerable distance away.

OBSERVATION: The "Urinoil", a urinal designed to keep urine from coming into contact with air, be utilized for all such facilities. It has no odor is easily constructed from locally available procured and salvage parts and precludes the influx of insects. (see Incl 1) It, or any urinal, must be well set in coarse gravel in order to assure good drainage.
